Medical Reasons for Behavioral Changes - Part 2

Many behavioural problems can have various medical causes or several different etiologies.

During this webinar Prof. Dr. Gonçalo Da Graça Pereira will present several behavioural problems which started by medical trigger (here the concept of medical, means organic disease). The distinction between medical and behavioural disease can be hard. Nevertheless, the approach to treat an animal can involve both “medical” and behavioural approaches.

In Part 2 the focus will be in endocrinology diseases (after a revision on physiology) that can lead to alterations of behavior.
